

MODERN DESIGN

414

LUDWIG MIES VAN DER ROHE

bar stools for the Four Seasons Restaurant, New York

Knoll | Germany, 1954 | stainless steel, leather
30 h × 15 w × 15 d in (76 × 38 × 38 cm)

Mies van der Rohe designed these stools for the interior of Philip Johnson's Four Seasons restaurant in the Seagram Building in New York. This design was never put into production and was created exclusively for the Restaurant. The stool is included in the permanent collection at the Knoll Museum. Knoll label on one.

Literature:

The Four Seasons: A History of America's Premier Restaurant, Mariani and Bidder, pg. 51 illustrates the stools in situ

Estimate: $5,000–7,000

Result: $9,600

Auction

03 October 2004
noon ct

Wright

1440 West Hubbard Street
Chicago IL
t 312 563 0020 f 312 563 0040

wright20.com

bid@wright20.com

WRIGHT