MAX BILL

Ulmer stool from the Ulm School of Design

Switzerland, 1954 | redwood, oak
17½ h × 15¼ w × 11½ d in (44 × 40 × 29 cm)

This early example comes from the Ulm School of Design founded by Max Bill, Inge Aicher-Scholl and Otl Aicher in 1953. This modular stool, a multifunctional object and inexpensive to produce, is representative of qualities that would become central to the school's design curriculum.

Provenance: Ulm School of Design, Germany | Galerie Ulrich Fiedler, Berlin | Collection of Michael Maharam, New York

Estimate: $2,000–3,000

Result: $2,000
