MILTON GLASER

Boucher's Mistress O'Murphy

colored inks on paper

13½ h × 17 w in (34 × 43 cm)

This drawing is after François Boucher's painting L'Odalisque blonde (1751), a portrait of Marie-Louise O'Murphy, a young Irish girl who modelled for Boucher at The Academy of Painting in Paris. This painting was sold to a member of the French royal court and King Louis XV, upon seeing it, invited Marie-Louise to become his petite maitresse.

Signed to lower right in image 'M Glaser'. Signed, titled and dated to lower margin 'Boucher's Mistress O'Murphy Milton Glaser Woodstock Sept 2 1978'.

Estimate: $2,000–3,000

Result: $1,500
