

ESSENTIAL DESIGN

315

CLAUDIO SALOCCHI

Aloa floor lamp

Nucleo for Sormani | Italy, 1971 | plastic, aluminum, rubber
68¾ h × 12½ dia in (175 × 32 cm)

In the early 1970s, the innovation of halogen bulbs inspired designers to consider pinpoint light sources on a minimal apparatus, which moved away from more conspicuous forms of lighting. The Aloa can be positioned vertically or set at a 45 degree angle.

Foil manufacturer's label to underside 'S nucleo divisione della sormani s.p.a. 22060 arosio - italia'.

Literature: Light-Lamps 1968-1973: New Italian Design, Ferrari and Ferrari, fig. 70

Estimate: $1,000–1,500

Auction

30 July 2024

11:00 am ct

Wright

1440 West Hubbard Street

Chicago IL

t 312 563 0020

f 312 563 0040

wright20.com

bid@wright20.com

WRIGHT