PERIMETER, designed by Paul McCobb, represents a new conception in contemporary design. Based on a long low module, its scale is perfectly adapted to the room heights and dimensions of today's homes, giving an illusion of greater space. By creating all pieces at normal desk height, and providing special corner pieces, designer McCobb truly "turns the trick" with PERIMETER. Hard-to-use corners, areas under windows become usable space, achieving a built-in look with PERIMETER. Sturdy American beech wood in handsome nutmeg finish, with unique bone-shape wood laminate hardware . . . make PERIMETER a warm, inviting contemporary group for bedroom, living or dining. It has the hallmark of permanent design for America's taste!
